About us

Opened by Sir David Attenborough in March 2005, Attenborough Nature Centre is an award winning visitor and education facility. The eco-friendly building is the gateway to one of the most important nature conservation sites in the East Midlands. The Nature Centre and the Reserve are managed by Nottinghamshire Wildlife Trust.

If you are looking for a unique setting for a business meeting or conference, then Attenborough Nature Centre is certain to inspire your delegates. Surrounded by the tranquil waters of Coneries Lagoon, the Centre's meeting room is a hidden gem in Nottingham and Derby's conference provision.

Proceeds from conference and meeting room bookings are used to support Nottinghamshire Wildlife Trust's education programmes and habitat works on the Reserve. Thus helping to keep Attenborough a place for wildlife and people to enjoy for years to come.

Fancy a team building event with a difference? Our Wild Away Days take place in the inspirational setting of Attenborough Nature Reserve.

They are designed to introduce new skills and improve communication through conservation based activities. Giving you the opportunity to engage with, and visibly contribute to the state of your local environment.
